5000 Facts About Canada

The public will welcome the 1913
Edition of "5000 Facts about Canada," compiled by Frank Velg, the acknowledged authority on things Canadian and the author of "Through the Heart of Canada." Ten thousand copies are now sold annually, which find their way all over Canada and the Empire, indeed the world.

The booklet is issued at 25 cents a copy, by the Canadian Facts Pub. Co., 588 Huron Street, Toronto, and is sold by all the leading newsdealers.

The Observer

One sample tested by competent analysts at the assaying laboratory of the University of Alberta in Edmonton prove that the mineral wealth of the province has as yet only been vaguely surmised. Some of the ore runs high in gold, silver and copper,
while other pieces show iron and lead.
Prospectors, who have tramped over the foothills of the Canadian Rockies,
predict that the next big "rush" on the north American continent will be into north western Alberta and eastern British Columbia, adding that the vast hinterland also will be a scene of activity with the introduction of transportation lines. More than a dozen exploration companies are boring for oil, natural gas and asphaltum in districts north of Edmonton and as the tests are highly satisfactory they will continue development work throughout the season.

On Tuesday King George of Greece
was assassinated by a bullet from the hand of a crank who was captured.
The king was brother to the Queen Mother Alexandra of England, and second son of King Christian IX of Denmark. Constantine, crown prince, succeeds his father. A previous attempt was made at the king's life in 1898.

Four years ago calves a day old were given away. The next year they sold at a dollar and this spring they are worth six to seven dollars.

The idea of prohibiting the killing of calves for veal in order that the supply of beef cattle may be replenished, receives much force from recent
and present developments in the meat trade. In the prairie provinces, the waste of good meat through the early
killing of young cattle is shockingly
large. Accurate figures are not obtainable but so great is the loss that a prohibitory law would restock depleted herds more quickly than any other single expedient.

The farmers lose money by selling their calves for veal, instead of maturing them into beef cattle. Why do they do it? Principally because want of ready money induces them to forego the larger profits of finishing the cattle.

Restrictive legislation might be regarded as an unpleasant or unwarrantable interference with a man's right to dispose of his property as he pleases;
but it would be wholesome in the interests of the farmer and consumer alike. Argentina, the greatest beef exporting country of the world, prohibits by law the slaughter of female calves, or heifers or cows under six years old, yet veal and baby beef are plentiful enough. The safeguarding of female cattle to maturity is a strong encouragement to breeding,
and thus the cattle supply multiplies
cumulatively.

This number begins Volume II.
The Review is a year old and looks like a Mellen's food baby. The support of the venture has been good from the start, and in return Vulcan and vicinity has had our best effort which is duly appreciated by subscriber and advertiser.

Another month will see the nucleus
of a plant established in Vulcan as it is believed the future of Vulcan will warrant a local printing establishment.

Reception to Dr. and Mrs. Carson

The beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jennerjohn on Vulcan St., was thrown open on the night of Monday the 17th in honor of Doctor and Mrs. G. M. Carson, who had reached Vulcan that night from their wedding trip.

Though the notice of the arrival of the genial Doctor and his wife was short, yet Mr. and Mrs. Jennerjohn, with customary hospitality had their
cozy new home excellently in order for the occasion.

On the arrival of the bride and groom
they were received to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and after receiving the congratulations and good wishes of the assembled guests,
all sat down to a dainty supper, which Mrs. Jennerjohn with the help of the ladies had prepared. After supper
the health of the bride and groom was proposed and enthusiastically received. The doctor made a fitting reply
on behalf of his wife and himself.
The only other toast was the health of the host and hostess and after a most enjoyable hour or so spent in music and social intercourse the guests departed, carrying with them the recollections of one of the most enjoyable evenings in Vulcan.

Among the guests were: Rev. D. K.
Allan and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Baird,
Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Karp, Mr. and Mrs. F. A.
Stives, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lebow, Mr.
and Mrs. J. A. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs.
H. F. Richardson, Misses Douglas and

Sunday School Institute

A Sunday School Institute is to be held in Vulcan on Friday, March 28.
These institutes are being held all over the province and are undenominational
in character. Their purpose is to consider the latest and best methods in Sunday school work and at the same time to be an inspiration to the workers around. We expect to have some interesting papers from Rev. J. B.
Macquinn, High River; Mr. Gardner,
St. Albert; Mr. De Witt and others.
Discussion will follow each subject.
There will be an afternoon session
when the various Sunday schools around and wherever convenient attend, will give reports, general discussion to follow. In the evening
some vital questions will be taken up and ably answered. A hearty invitation is extended to all teachers and scholars of Sunday schools, as well as the general public. Make Vulcan's first convention a success.

Danger

What are we to do about the precarious condition existing at the depot platform? Mention of the disagreeable state of affairs has been through these columns before. So far even a petition to the C.P.R. authorities from the President of our Board of Trade has been unavailing. Its not at all unlikely that some dark night some unfortunate individual will tumble off the railingless platform and break his neck. If some such drastic occurrence is necessary to move the C.P.R. sufficiently to place a railing along the edge of the platform, then we'd better find some harmless though equally drastic method of compelling them to erect a railing before an accident does occur.

A farmer to the east of here was arraigned in court Tuesday and found guilty of inhuman treatment towards a team of horses belonging to him.
The gentleman in question, drove into town, hitched the team to a hitching-
post and without even blanketing
them, left them exposed to the severe storm, which was then in progress,
for several hours. His fine was $10.00
and costs; 25 cents would have stabled them. We will never reach the highest state of civilization until we learn to feel compassion for dumb brutes. If the enforcement of law is the only way this can be attained,
then let's have enforcement of law.
The official's attitude in this case was most commendable. Let the good work go on.

now contemplating a site on which

Injustice

"I'll get them, he cried, and his voice vibrated passionately. I'll bring them to you to-morrow or the day after at the latest. Then I'll, I shall ask my reward. Oh, surely you can guess what it is; you know what I would ask of you. I thought you knew long ago, when you were first engaged to Francis; my hands were tied then, my lips dumb."

Slowly his meaning dawned upon her; his face, his voice told her his secret. She released her hold on him, and slipped away into the shadows.

What are you saying, what do you mean? she cried, and her eyes grew heavy with fear.

I mean that I love you, he said boldly. I loved you the moment I met you over a year ago now. Forgive me, I didn't mean to tell you yet. He shrugged his shoulders; but perhaps it's best you should know.

She covered her face with her hands, and dropping on to the sofa, sat there huddled up. Scribner stood quite still, where she had left him in the centre of the room, watching her, waiting.

The rain was falling again, driving through the darkening streets, now and then as the wind caught it, it pattered against the glass.

Iris, he said, and his voice was almost gentle. I won't ask you to love me yet, but I do ask you to believe that I love you with all my heart. For I know your sorrow and loss, I know everything, and I want to help you. I say that I may hope, that's all. I'll wait a year, two years if necessary, but tell me that some day in the future you will become my wife.

I can never marry; I can never love.

He refused to hear her. Sometimes from friendship the greatest of all love springs. You can't go through life alone, I've been a bit of a rotter in the past I know, and I've just come to the end of my tether. I'm as lonely as you are, everyone's chuckled me, even my sole relative, Lady Mary. But when she learned my secret, that I was in love with you, she promised to forgive me, to do the right thing by me, and all that—you understand. She would allow us a couple of hazy days a year during life, and afterwards—well, she would make me her sole heir, settle everything on us.

He waited, but no reply came from the little huddled figure on the sofa. A long time he waited, and at last he walked to her side and tried to take her hand, but she drew it away with a frightened cry.

You said you were his friend, and yet you would bargain with me!

I'm not bargaining, he cried quickly. You know what it is to love, so you may enter into my feelings perhaps, and understand how hard it has been for me to keep silent all these months. Well, I'm waiting for your answer.

She dropped her hands from her face and looked at him now. She was very pale, her eyes calm and cold, her face motionless. You have had it; I can never love again; never marry, never.

The door opened slowly, noiselessly, and Reuben, unperceived, slipped into the room. It was quite dark where he stood, only the twilight which filtered through the windows wet with the kisses of the rain was reflected in his sombre eyes, which were fixed menacingly on Scribner.

Is that final? the latter asked and his voice was no longer gentle, it vibrated harshly.

Absolutely final. You speak of love; I don't think you understand the meaning of the word. I loved James Francis, I shall love him always and if I gave myself to any other man I should be murdering love as cruelly as the most unhappy woman on the street.

Turning his back on her, he picked up his hat and gloves. Have you forgotten what you asked me to do a minute ago?

He saw the color rush to her face then. No, but you needn't trouble now. I'll fight for myself.

You'll fail, he said sharply. These men, Roberts and Saintsbury, have not finished with Jimmy Francis. They won't have finished with him until between them they've drained him of his last penny. I would have saved him because I loved you, because your love means my salvation. Alone you can do nothing; you'll have to send for me sooner or later.

She rose to her feet, scorn and contempt shone in her eyes now. I shall never send for you. I shall never see you again; go!

LIONESS IN THEATRE

Women and Children Trampled in Wild Stampede for the Exits

Paris, France.—A lioness which was released from its cage in the Popular Theatre in the Rue de Belleville last night, owing to an attendant's blunder, caused a panic, which resulted in seven people being trampled and seriously injured.

The lioness was one of the performers in a dramatic sketch. In this sketch a painter dreams that his wife and daughter are attacked and killed by lions, which are the property of a woman with whom the painter has fallen in love.

The little drama, in which the tamer, March, has played for many years, is very popular in France, and the theatre was crowded for last night's performance.

By some mistake, the cage containing the lioness was placed on the stage with the wrong end towards the audience, so that the astonished lioness who should have been behind the bars, found herself between the cage and the orchestra.

There was a moment of dramatic tension. The conductor of the orchestra sat motionless with terror, staring at the lioness, which waved its tail slowly and snarled at the conductor.

A woman shrieked. The lioness with a roar of rage, crouched, sprang over the footlights and across the orchestra, knocking the player of the double bass and his instrument over, and landing in the front row of the stalls, from which the occupants had fled.

She then leaped into one of the boxes. The door of the box was open, and the lioness passed into the manager's office behind.

March, the lion tamer, sprang after the lioness and shut himself in the room. He stunned the animal with an iron bar, and then dragged her through a side door leading to the stage.

Before the lioness recovered she was safely caged.

Meanwhile the audience struggled toward the exits and 7 women and children were knocked down and hurt. Several women fainted.

In a Hurry for Profits

Capetown.—The story is told, says the Cape Times, that a company in London, which controls a large block of farms in the Cape province, dissatisfied with the excuse given that, owing to the lambing season, shearing could not be proceeded with, called to the Cape manager to stop lambing and start shearing.

Woman Kicked to Death

Glasgow.—A middle-aged woman named Mary Ferris was found dead in her house at Glasgow. She was badly bruised on the head and limbs and the doctor's report states that she was kicked to death.

Battleship as a Target

London.—The admiralty have decided to sacrifice the battleship Reuben, in which the king and queen then prince and princess of Wales, made their memorable visit to India, as a target for the 12-inch guns of the Home fleet.

It Bids Pain Begone.—When neuralgia pains the nerves or lumbago cripples the back is the time to test the virtues of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Well rubbed in it will still the pain and produce a sensation of ease and rest. There is nothing like it as a liniment for its curative properties are great. A trial of it will establish faith in it.

Girl Murders Her Mother

Geneva.—A girl named Lucie Allaire, aged 20, was sentenced at Annecy to 20 years penal servitude for murdering her mother. Mlle. Allaire desired to become a nun, and because her mother objected she attacked her with a knife, inflicting fatal injuries.

Saved by Sausage Meat

Paris.—Andre Cavalier, a burglar, who fell from a six-story window in Paris, landed on a heap of sausage-meat which a pork butcher was in the act of chopping up, and escaped injury.

A good way to prevent oilcloth from cracking when used as covers for tables is as follows: A few thicknesses of paper are placed on the table and moistened thoroughly with machine oil. This will cause the oilcloth to last much longer, remain soft, and prevent cracking of the glass surface. It should be stretched tightly over the oiled paper.

WRITES MOVING PICTURE PLAYS

London, England.—The Marchioness Townshend has joined the ranks of the picture-play writers.

She is the first peeress to write cinema plays, and her works, three of which are about to be produced by the Clarendon Film Company, deal largely with the doings of society.

A Strong Man's Love is the name of the principal film, which was shown before Lady Townshend at the company's premises, and met with her entire approval. During the action of the film, which is of a stirring and dramatic nature, Lady Townshend described her methods of plot-writing.

LADY TOWNSHEND

I have always been a very keen observer of human nature, and the drama in everyday life I see going on continually have often made me wish to write plots for the cinematograph she said.

The development of the cinema movement has been very interesting to me from its earliest days, and I think it is a splendid medium through which one class of the community can observe other classes with which, ordinarily, they seldom come into contact. This is entirely beneficial, and the object of all my works is to put some instructive truth before the audience.

It is fascinating work, and I am deeply interested in it. I am thinking of turning one of my cinema plots into a serial story, but this is only an idea at present.

To become a successful cinema plot writer one should be a close observer of personalities and a student of character. These are the qualities which give reality to the action of the play.

NO FAULT OF VON DER GOLTZ

German General Who Organized Turkish Army Disclaims Responsibility for Defeat

Berlin, Germany.—It is no fault of mine, is the keynote of an article appearing in February's issue of the Deutsche Rundschau, over the signature of Marshal von der Goltz, who organized the Turkish army.

Marshal von der Goltz states that many years ago he had carefully prepared a plan of maneuvers representing a Turco-Bulgarian war. The Turkish army was commanded by Nazim Pasha, and the battle was to be fought around Adrianople, in somewhat similar conditions to the present war.

Several days before the maneuvers, however, wholesale arrests of commanders of both armies took place in Constantinople. What had happened was that the ex-Sultan's spies had reported the coming war to their master, who feared a conspiracy, and Marshal von der Goltz, who was already in the field, hurried back to Yildiz Kiosk, to convince the sultan that the maneuvers were quite harmless, and to obtain the release of the arrested officers. The release was granted, but there was never a question of maneuvers again.

The marshal repudiates as irresponsible statements the attacks on him regarding the Turkish revolt. He left the Turkish service seventeen years ago, and was offered the post again in 1909, but refused. The article appears to have been written at the suggestion of the German army staff, as the bitter attacks made on the marshal have made a bad impression here.

45 LIGHTNING DEATHS

South Africa Visited by Series of Severe Storms

Johannesburg, S. Africa.—Between October 26 and January 12 at least forty-five persons were killed by lightning in South Africa and forty seriously injured, while many and deaths in lonely districts are recorded.

A list of the lightning accidents in less than three weeks fills more than a column in a local newspaper.

At Germiston, near Johannesburg, on December 1 about thirty mourners at a funeral were struck by lightning in the cemetery and one man was killed. This is the worst of the unusually large number of such accidents.

Good One There

Frost—Where do you get your hats old man?

Snow—At cafes usually. But once or twice I've been lucky enough to exchange at church.

Old Lady (starting bank account)—An' are ye sure I have it out when I want it?

Cashier—Sure, an' ye can have it out tomorrow if ye give me a wake's notice.

Burning Woman Saved by a Mayor

London.—A young woman who ran into the street enveloped in flames, was seen by the mayor of Hornsey as he was driving to a meeting. The carriage rug was thrown over her and after the flames had been extinguished she was conveyed to a hospital in a critical condition.

Ridiculously Simple

A traveller, recently returned from Mexico, relates how he was shown through some ancient buildings, convents and galls that were erected by the Spaniards centuries ago.

In the wall of one of the ancient edifices he saw a small opening, so he naturally inquired of his Mexican guide what purpose it served.

He told him that it was one of those buildings in which criminals were formerly walled up alive.

But what was the use of the hole in the wall? he asked.

Well, sir, replied the guide, as long as the prisoner lived his food was given to him on a plate, and he passed back the empty plate through the hole; but when the prisoner handed it back with the food on it untouched the gaoler knew that he was dead already, and didn't give him any more.

To Allay Suspicion

Diner—Why don't you take that cat off the table?

Waiter—Well, you see, sir, it's like this. It is stewed rabbit today and the governor says the customers like to have the cat in evidence on those days.

True

Teacher was telling her class little stories in natural history, and she asked if anyone could tell her what a ground hog was.

I've went a little hand, waving frantically.

Well, Carl, you may tell us what a ground hog is.

Please ma'am, it's a sausage.

DON'T SCOLD BABY

FOR BEING CROSS

Mother, don't scold your little ones for being cross. A baby's nature is to be happy and if he is cross it is not his fault—crossness shows that he is unwell and needs a good medicine to bring him back to the healthy, happy state again.

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones to keep them happy and well. There is a smile in every dose. They cure constipation, indigestion, expel worms, break up colds and make teething easy.

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Revenue Measure

There haven't been any automobiles violating the speed limits for more than a week, said the constable. What'll we do?

Arrange to lower the speed limit, replied the sheriff.

Wedded to the Game

Yorkshire was the scene, and the event in progress was a wedding. The speaking parts in the ceremony had all been played, and now bride and bridegroom and their friends were in the vestry putting the matter into writing.

But the clergyman was not youthful nor was he swift. Time passed and the bridegroom became more and more fidgety.

You seem in a great hurry, remarked the officiating cleric at last. Have you a train to catch?

The happy man stood stock still and scratched his head, in perplexity.

Well, sir, he replied good naturedly, it ain't a train, sir; but I don't want to be late for t' football match!

If brevity be the soul of wit, Sir Harry Johnston must be accounted one of the witliest men that ever wrote a dispatch to the home Government. Advanced against Tmose; defeated, captured, and hanged him.—Johnston. So ran one of his reports to the late Lord Salisbury.

The actual proceedings were characterized by corresponding brevity. He first warned his enemy that upon capture he would be hanged. Tmose persisted in fighting, and was beaten.

Tmose, you were foolish to fight, said Sir Harry after the battle. You shall have a good dinner and the best bottle of champagne I have, and at seven o'clock tomorrow morning you shall be hanged.

The famous dispatch shows how thoroughly the plan was carried out.

Geraldine—You haven't been to see me, since you asked my father for my hand.

Gerald—No, this is the first time I've been able to get about.

Rich v. Poor

Two girls at Norwich disputing for precedence, one of them, who was the daughter of a wealthy brewer, said to the other, whose father was a poor man: You are to consider, miss, that my father keeps a carriage.

Very true, returned the poor man's daughter, and you are to consider that he also keeps a dray.

Convincing
Oh, papa! Algernon has asked me to marry him.
The nuptial! What has he ever done to deserve you?
Well, Algernon is a writer of some note.
Is that so? Can you convince me
of that?
Certainly, here is the note.

The young lover of old Egypt was in despair.
And to think, he wailed, that I should lose everything I had trying to corner the fig market. Now I do not know when we can be married.
Why I haven't even a house.
The beautiful daughter of the Nile
smiled reassuringly.
Cheer up, my dear, she whispered,
you can build the house yourself.
But where is the material?
In our date garden. You know,
each of your love letters was written on a brick; I have saved them all.
Now get your overalls and go to work.
Thrifty, indeed, were the daughters of old Egypt.

THE BLESSING OF MOTHERHOOD
Healthy Mothers and Children Make Happy Homes

Motherhood is woman's highest sphere
in life. It is the fruition of her dearest hopes and greatest desires; yet thousands of noble women through some de-rangment have been denied this blessing.
In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
makes women normal, healthy and strong.
This is evidenced by the following letters
which are genuine and truthful:

London, Ont.—"I wish to thank you for the benefit I received by taking your famous medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before my baby was born I was so ill I could not stand long or walk any distance. I had to lie down nearly all the time. After I took your medicine I felt like a new woman. I could work from morning till night and was happy and well. I certainly think I believe in your medicine and recommend it to every woman who is pregnant. You may see this testimonial
if you like. It may help some other woman."—Mrs. FRANK
CORRIGAN, 132 Adelaide St., London, Ont.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was ailing all the time and did not know what the matter
was. I wanted a baby but my health would not permit it. I was nervous, my side ached and I was all run down. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good and took the medicine. I have now a beautiful baby and your Compound has helped me in every way."—Mrs. J. J. STEWART, 299 Hun-doldt St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

RAGTIME DANCE CRAZE
To Form Feature of Society Ball for Charity at the Savoy London, England.—Alluding to the craze for ragtime in New York, Jack Mason, who taught the dance to America's 400,000, and drilled the women in Hullo Ragtime at the Hippodrome, remarked on his arrival in this country: "It won't be long before English society takes to it quite as furiously."
Mr. Mason had good reason for his prophecy, for his fame as a ragtime
instructor had preceded him, and applications for his services from society
as well as professional women awaited
his arrival at the Savoy Hotel, where by the way, Max Pemberton and Albert P. de Courville hatched their Hippodrome revue.
Of course, the tremendous success of "Hullo Ragtime" did much to nourish
the craze for this form of dancing in England, but we were to have it in the ballrooms all the same, and so to speak,
to have it badly. George Grossmith had already made it popular at semi-theatrical balls at the Grafton Galleries
and elsewhere.
And now, so powerful is the influence of Louis Hirsch's measure, there is to be a ragtime ball at the Savoy,
which is already, although it does not take place until April 3, being talked of
as one of the events of the season.
This means, naturally, that English society is to be prominently concerned in the affair. Lady L. is always to the fore in society functions and movements of all kinds, has given her name to the ball committee and is already exercising her valuable influence on behalf of the scheme. Sir Herbert Tree is also on the committee, and so are Sir George and Lady Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur
Bourchier, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Maude,
Miss Julia Nelson and Mr. and Mrs.
Granville Barker.
A prize of 25 guineas is to be given to the English woman who, in the opinion of the committee, proves herself the best ragtime dancer of her sex and nationality in the room, and there will be available consolation
prizes for the women who, in their own opinion, ought to have had the 25
guineas. The tickets for the ball, which is in aid of the United Theatrical Charities are $11 each.

THREE SISTERS SUICIDE AT SEA
Drink Chloroform and Then Plunge
From Porthole of Their State
Cabin
Singapore.—A very mysterious disappearance of three sisters
in the night from the cabin which they shared and the discovery of a letter and a bottle which had contained chloroform were reported by the captain of the Dutch steamship Van Noort on his arrival here. The sisters were Germans named Diederich,
and they had been touring in Java.
They were last seen going to their cabin at 10 p.m. the day before the vessel reached port after having spent
the evening reading and chatting on deck.
In the morning the serving boy,
hearing no answer to his knocks at the cabin door, told the steward who entered and found the women missing.
On the table was a note addressed to the captain. This he opened. The letter, written in German in pencil,
was briefly to the effect that all their baggage was bequeathed to the captain, and was signed simply: Sisters Diederich.
On a desk in the cabin was a bottle containing a few remaining drops of chloroform. A chair stood near the porthole, and it is conjectured
that the sisters each took chloroform
and then climbed through the porthole. The cabin was sealed by the captain and a full inquiry will be made at Batavia.

CZAR'S HEIR MAY GO TO EGYPT
Council of Medical Men Believe That Sojourn There May Effect a Cure
Berlin, Germany.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Tageblatt states that a medical council, assembled at Tarskoe Selo has recommended that the Czar's son should undergo a cure
at Helouan, near Cairo. The council is of the opinion that a prolonged sojourn in Egypt would afford the boy considerable relief and perhaps lead to a complete cure.
It is, however, added that it cannot be decided whether the Czar will act on the doctor's advice, because the Czarina is prevented by certain symptoms of her own condition from accompanied her son.
Early this week the German press
announced that Professor Enderlen,
an eminent surgeon of the University of Wurzburg, with his assistant, Doctor Hotz, had gone to St. Petersburg, at the request of the Czar and Czari-
na, to attend their 8-year-old son,
whose illness in the autumn was surrounded with so much mystery.
Later in the week, St. Petersburg dispatches to the Berlin newspapers contained a curious account of a remarkable successful operation by Professor Enderlen on a Russian actress, whose life he saved by effecting a transfusion of blood from the veins of her husband. The actress'
name is given as the opera singer,
Mme. Anastasia Vilezova, whose husband is Colonel Biskupski.

NO SMOKING IN VATICAN
Attendants Disconsolate Over Order
Issued by the Pope
Rome.—Pius X has forbidden smoking in the Vatican, and the guards,
chamberlains and attendants are disconsolate. Not even in the privacy of their own chambers are they allowed to puff their cigarettes or pipes.
The Pope, in consequence of a severe cold, has himself abandoned
smoking, and like Leo XIII, contents himself with snuff.
American tobacco factories formerly sent the Pope annual presents of tobacco. He has now requested them to stop sending cigars and pipe
tobacco, but to send snuff instead.

SHE TOOK HER FRIEND'S ADVICE AND DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HER SON

Straight and Simple Statement Tells of Another Grand Cure by the Old Canadian Kidney Remedy.
Springhaven, Yarmouth Co., N.S.
(Special)—Simple and straight to the point is the statement of Mrs. Erven
C. Trefry, of this place, but it tells of another grand cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills.
"My fifteen-year-old son Angus," Mrs. Trefry states, "suffered from pain in his back, headache, and a pain over the eyes."
"He was so bad he could not walk across the floor. My friends advised me to give him Dodd's Kidney Pills."
"They cured him."
That young Trefry's kidneys were wrong is evidenced by the cure.
Dodd's Kidney Pills only cure diseased kidneys. They never fail to do that.
The reason they cure rheumatism,
backache, gravel, dropsy, Bright's disease, diabetes, and kindred diseases,
is that these all spring from disordered kidneys.
If you have any of these diseases
you haven't tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Ask your neighbors. They'll tell you Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure them.

"We don't need all that orchestra."
said the public speaker.
But music always helps to enliven
an occasion.
I know, but there's no use of getting
your audience interested in the tunes
when all you really require to keep 'em
awake is the bass drum and cymbals.

PALATIAL C.P.R. HOTEL AT CALGARY
The latest link in the chain of Hotels owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, is now in course of construction at Calgary. This Hotel, in size and architectural design, as well as the sumptuousness of the furnishings and general appointments, will rival anything of its kind in Western Canada. The cost of the Hotel is said to be approximately $1,200,000, and it is expected that it will be opened for patronage some time during the coming summer, or in any event before the end of 1913.

The man then brought another pile

the newest pattern, he said. You

Dear me, yes! I will take half a

MAYOR KIDNAPPED ON AIRSHL

Bound Hand and Foot, Lashed to Machine and Carried Sixty Miles Vienna, Austria.—Therapy fever,
which is again epidemic on both sides of the Austro-Russian frontier, is responsible for several extraordinary incidents.
The mayor of a small town near Plock, in Russian Poland, declared that he was kidnapped by an Austrian air scout several days ago. According to his story, he heard the sound of an aeroplane late at night,
and when it descended in a field near the town he went to capture the occupants, armed only with the insignia
of his office.
He alleges that the two airmer
turned the tables by binding him hand and foot and lashing him to the body of the aeroplane. They entered their seats, warned their prisoner
not to struggle and resumed their flight.
The terrified mayor was finally brought to earth near the town of Bar, sixty miles away, and before he could give the alarm his aerial kidnappers vanished.
Frontier guards continually report
the passage of Russian aeroplanes at night. An Austrian aeroplane which had descended in Russia two days ago was confiscated and the airman
arrested.

Forcibly Fed in a Liner
Liverpool.—When the Pacific liner Oronsa arrived at Liverpool, it was stated that a Spanish woman passenger had been forcibly fed for fourteen days. She was not a suffragist. Owing to the death of her sister she developed melancholia and was ordered a sea voyage. She was carried on board the liner and fed by a tube
throughout the voyage.

Revenge
The clergyman who had just accepted the post of chaplain in the state penitentiary arose to preach his farewell sermon before the congregation
which owed him several months back salary. Slowly and distinctly he announced his text:
I go, he said, to prepare a place for you, so that where I am, there ye may be also.

member of the gang, to the police,
led to the capture of twenty-five burglars whose operations extended over three years.

Not to be Caught
A distant relative had taken up his quarters with a newly-married couple who had received him with every mark of consideration. But when,
after a week's stay in their house the guest began to make himself more and more at home the couple deliberated on the best means of getting rid of the hanger-on and intruder without offending him.
I tell you what, said the husband,
to-morrow at dinner I will grumble
about the soup, saying it is over-salted; you will then flare up, and when the dispute is at its height we will appeal to the decision of our relative.
If he takes your part I will turn him
out of doors, and if he sides with me
you will do the same.
The plan was acted upon, and in the midst of the quarrel the husband and wife called upon their guest to declare which of them was in the right. But the latter coolly replied:
You see, my dears, during the couple of months I intend staying with you I have made up my mind not to interfere in your domestic broils.

The New Doctrine

Hearleigh, March 25.—A meeting of farmers was held in Berywater school to stimulate an interest in an industrial relationship. Delegates from Sunny Glen were present. The new doctrine of co-operation was discussed. It was pointed out that if there were any failure it would be because the machinery was inadequate, and not because of any inherent defect in the principle upon which co-operation is founded. It was carried to call a mass meeting of farmers in Vulcan to try and get at a satisfactory scheme to work on.

The much talked about telephone system connecting Hearleigh with Vulcan fell through. The telephone is just as much a necessity on the farm as in the city office. It is every bit as indispensable as a local paper to the farmer in the daily business and social affairs.

There is a rumor afloat of forming a recreation club to have some kind of fun through the summer months.

Nell Campbell has returned from the east, having spent a few months with friends in Ontario. Sunny Alberta looks good to him again.

A. Robson, of Calgary, is visiting some of his old acquaintances in Hearleigh district.

Alf Haughton is paying Hearleigh a flying visit. He is as jocund as ever and looks well.

Dr. Stanley, the Conservative candidate, gave this district a visit. He means to be back before the election.

The Board's Answer!

Appropos the letter, re the Board of Trade, which appeared in last week's issue, we are in receipt of a communication from the secretary, or as he signs himself, Acting Secretary of the Board of Trade. Had it not been for the length of the article and the late date received, we should have printed same in this week's issue. As it is, the article contains four closely typewritten pages and it lay with us, whether it were better to run it in separate installments, as it would have been unnecessary to do had we started it in this issue or to print it in its entirety at a later date, quite likely the following issue. At present the article remains in our files though we shall be glad to show same to anyone wishing to inspect it.

The most illuminative and amusingly suggestive, the "Public Spirit" question of "Have we a Board of Trade?"

THE WORLD'S WORK DEPENDS ON THE WORLD'S DIGESTION

From the captain of industry to the hod carrier—in the auto to the woman with the scrubbing brush—the accomplishments of every one of us depend absolutely on the accomplishment of our stomachs. Backed by a good digestion, a man can give the best that is in him. When his stomach fails, he becomes a weakling.

To this loss of power no one need submit. Right habits of eating, drinking, sleeping and exercise, aided by Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, will restore and maintain the full efficiency of the human mind and body.

Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets contain the active principles of the digestion of every kind of food. They go to the assistance of the weakened stomach, and enable the sufferer, right from the start, to assimilate and get the benefit of the food eaten. With this assistance, the digestive organs regain their tone, and soon the use of the tablets is no longer necessary.

If your stomach is not working properly, try Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, 50c. at your druggist's, National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

Why It Reminded Him
Young Scrapper (amateur violinist)—Did you notice that old man crying while I was playing my sonata?

Was he a violinist?
No he used to ring pigs.

A woman went into a small grocer's shop and the assistant (a neighbor's daughter) came forward to serve her. What can I get for you, please? she said.

The assistant went to him and said: The lady wants a cake, but does not want me to serve her.

The grocer came forward and said: Genoa, madam?

No Stone Unturned.
A countryman who visited London lost his gold watch. He trotted off to Scotland Yard and told them about his trouble. With their usual politeness they informed him that they would leave no stone unturned in their endeavor to find his watch.

A few days later he went through some of the leading thoroughfares and saw street after street turned up and was told that a few miles were in the same condition.

Crabbed
The literary young man had just taken possession of a smart young lady at the party and was at a loss for a topic of conversation. After much mental struggle he at length inquired:

Oh, Miss J.—I suppose you are familiar with Crabbe's tales?

Young lady (scoffingly)—I was not aware that crabs had tails, sir!

Young man (confusedly)—I beg pardon! I should have said "read Crabbe's tales."

Young lady (still more scoffingly)—And I was not aware that red crabs had tails, either.

Farmer John—This is the New York Stock Exchange my dear. All those men running about on the floor are brokers.

Thought It Was Cocoa

During a meeting of councillors in one of the Lancashire towns the question of recreation for the hospital nurses was being discussed.

Several games were suggested, amongst which was the game of croquet.

A burly Lancashire councillor, who was noted for his eagerness to keep down expenditure, happened to come in at the moment, but failed to catch accurately the name of the subject under discussion. However, he immediately got upon his feet and objected to the increased expenditure, saying at the same time that tea and coffee had been good enough for him all his life, and he thought the nurses could do very well without it.

A Bit of 'Hole' Right

A well-known Lancashire farmer possessed of a considerable sense of humor, had for a long time been petitioning the local urban council to fill up a deep mud-hole on the common before his house, but without result. One very wet night, however, as he was seated comfortably before his fire, a tremendous cry for help was heard from the outside.

The farmer, seizing a lantern, opened the door and peered out into the darkness, to find three of the council men, on their return home from a meeting, had missed their way across the common, and were now struggling in the mud-hole.

Well, gentlemen, said the old Lancashire son of the soil, as he surveyed them grimly. I am glad to see you stirring in this matter at last.

Mrs. Smith—I hear Mrs. Weeds is going to marry a farmer and live in the country.

Mrs. Jones—Well, she ought to make a good farmer's wife.

Mrs. Smith—I don't see why. She has always lived in town.

Mrs. Jones—True, but as this is her sixth matrimonial venture she evidently knows all about husbandry.

Oh, John! The cook has left.

Well, we'll have to get another one, I suppose.

I am afraid we can't John. I think we've had them all.

Wrong Diagnosis

The Amateur Sherlock—I am sorry to observe that you are in a precarious state of health. As you entered the bathroom I saw you clutch at your heart, while a look of agony crossed your face.

Mr. Snuffles—Heart, nothing! I have a cold and just discovered that I hadn't brought a handkerchief with me.

Mrs. Getrox—So your woman's club wasn't a success.

Mrs. Swift—No; it had all the discomforts of home.

CLEAR HEADED

Head Bookkeeper Must Be Reliable

The chief bookkeeper in a large business house in one of our great Western cities speaks of the harm coffee did for him. (Tea is just as injurious because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee).

My wife and I drank our first cup of Postum a little over two years ago and we have used it ever since, to the entire exclusion of tea and coffee. It happened in this way:

"About three and a half years ago I had an attack of pneumonia, which left a memento in the shape of dyspepsia, or rather, to speak more correctly, neuralgia of the stomach. My 'cup of cheer' had always been coffee or tea, but I became convinced, after a time, that they aggravated my stomach trouble. I happened to mention the matter to my grocer one day and he suggested that I give Postum a trial.

"Next day it came, but the cook made the mistake of not boiling it sufficiently, and we did not like it much. This was, however, soon remedied, and now we like it so much that we will never change back. Postum, being a food beverage instead of a drug, has been the means of banishing my stomach trouble. I verily believe, for I am a well man today, and have used no medicine."

My work as chief bookkeeper in our Co.'s branch house here is of a very confining nature. During my coffee-drinking days I was subject to nervousness and "the blues." These have left me since I began using Postum, and I can conscientiously recommend it to those whose work confines them to long hours of severe mental exertion."

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER

Requires That Her Blood Supply be Kept Rich, Red and Pure.

Every mother who calls to mind her own girlhood knows how urgently her daughter is likely to need help and strength during the years between school days and womanhood. It is then that growing girls droop and become fragile, bloodless and nervous. Nature is calling for more nourishment than the blood can supply and signs of distress are plainly evident in dull eyes, pallid cheeks, aching backs, a languid step, fits of depression, headaches and a dislike for food. These signs mean anemia—that is bloodlessness.

The watchful mother takes prompt steps to give her girl the new, rich blood her system is thirsting for by giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which make new blood and transforms unhappy anaemic girls into robust, happy, bright-eyed young women.

No other medicine has ever succeeded like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because no other medicine can make that new, rich, red blood which brings health and vitality to weak, bloodless systems.

Miss Maude Krouse, Copeston, Ont., says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a blessing to me. I had been a sufferer for almost two years from anemia, and seemed, no matter what I tried, to be growing worse. I was very pale and seemed bloodless, suffered from frequent headaches, the least exertion would leave me completely tired out, and I was very much discouraged and fretful. At last I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and got a half dozen boxes, and by the time they were used I was feeling much better. A few more boxes fully restored my health and I have since been well and strong and able once more to enjoy life."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

KEPT SKELETON FOR YEARS

Women Slept With Corpse and Nightly Expected its Reanimation

London, England.—A discovery of a skeleton of a woman who died apparently two or three years ago, and whose remains have been kept in a bedroom by another aged woman, so that they could both be buried together, has been made by the police at Wimbourne, Dorset.

An inquest was held, and as strange a story was told as has probably ever been heard in a coroner's court.

Sarah Mary Kearley, spinster, aged 64, said the remains which were found in bed were those of Ellen Griffin who was nearly 70 years of age, and who had lived with witness over 20 years after leaving service together in London.

Miss Griffin was not so well, and she laid in bed, before I went to work. I slept in the same bed two nights with her body, thinking that she would come to life again.

Witness said she did not tell any one of the death as she intended keeping the remains as long as she lived, so that they could both be buried together.

They had no quarrel, witness declared, and added she worked for and kept Miss Griffin, who could only do a little sewing.

The town surveyor, who said he had known Miss Kearley for many years, said that both women were eccentric.

A doctor said the skeleton was found in a natural reclining position. There was not a vestige of flesh remaining, and from an examination his opinion was that death was due to natural causes.

An open verdict was returned.

ENGLAND MENACED BY FAMINE

Expert Advocates the Storage of Enormous Deposits in the Country

London, England.—With the demand for oil exceeding the rate of production everywhere, a serious shortage will soon occur unless active steps are taken to safeguard our future supply, said Prof. Vivian B. Lewis, in a lecture at the Royal Society of Arts.

As to the case of war, Professor Lewis declared that nothing short of creating enormous storing facilities in the country and gradually accumulating a supply of fuel oil sufficient to last a long period would safeguard the country. The oilfields of the empire—India, the East Indies, Canada and other colonies that showed promise of oil—should be subsidized and encouraged in every way to develop their resources.

There was no guarantee that new fields would show the same production as the old ones, nor did indications justify them in supposing that many such sources of supply existed. Doctor Engler had put the period over which oil would be available for the purposes for which it was now used at 100 years but it seemed very doubtful if in fifty years' time it would be obtainable in sufficient quantity, and at a price that would enable them to use it commercially.

The consumption of motor spirit in England had doubled during the past four years, while with the increase in consumption the price had risen and the quality deteriorated. There need be no fear, however, as to the future of the motor spirit supply, as alcohol must eventually become the main power factor, and with government restrictions relaxed, the introduction of home-made fuel would provide not only a more pleasant and safer form of motor spirit, but would contribute to the agricultural prosperity of the country.

BONES OF MAMMOTH FOUND

Also Head of Hippopotamus That Roamed in England Unknown Ages Ago

London, England.—Interesting particulars of a discovery of relics of prehistoric Britain are given in the report of the London county council asylums committee to be presented to the London county council at its next meeting.

The appearance of a molehill on a part of the estate of the Canon, Hill Asylum at Coudon, Surrey, attracted the attention of Sir James Moody, the medical superintendent, and excavations were undertaken with the result that some bones were discovered.

After consultation with Henry Dewey, of the geological survey, and the authorities at the British museum, it was ascertained that the relics were remains of the head of a hippopotamus and two pieces of an ivory tusk, probably that of a mammoth.

There are several considerable fragments of the head of the hippopotamus, including portions of the jaw with teeth in position, the articulation of the jawbones, two of the larger teeth and one of the vertebrae, and there are also a number of small parts of bone which so far it has not been possible to identify.

In view of the scientific interest attached to the discovery the committee is advising that the remains be placed in the Horniman Museum.

A sixteenth century fresco and fine architectural details of the same period have been discovered during the demolition of old monastery buildings near Wolsey Gate, Ipswich.

They have been hidden for many years by the work of later builders. The fresco is believed to have been painted by Italians who settled in England during the Tudor period.

Staircases designed by Wren, Corinthian porticos and marble mantelpieces have been found in buildings near the Tower, which were formerly used as offices, and are now being demolished in connection with the erection of the new premises of the port of London authority.

One early eighteenth century mantelpiece has realized $1525, and a portrait has been sold for $725.

Vicar's Referendum

London.—The vicar of St. Andrew's, West Kensington, the Rev. G. Douglas Castleden, is taking the views of his congregation on the subject of the services held on Sunday mornings, it having been stated that they are too long and fatiguing. Referendum papers have been issued to the communicants and members of the congregation.

A '49ER

The late James R. Keene, himself almost a '49er, used to tell many a story about the characters of '49.

It was difficult in those days, he once said, to be a temperance man, for to refuse a drink with a '49er was a worse offence than to kiss the fellow's wife.

A '49er, twirling his long and drooping moustache, said to a tenderfoot in a bar-room:

Have some red eye with me.

Thank you—no, said the tenderfoot, a total abstainer, firmly.

There was a tense silence in the crowded bar. Then the '49er reached back to his hip-pocket and said with a weary sigh:

Heigho, can't I even take a drink without killing a man?

The Dangerous Stove

A French physician called on one of his patients, a lady, who was complaining of headache and general prostration. I'll tell you what's the matter with you, madam, he said promptly: It's that stove you have over there—Those coal-burning stoves are reservoirs of poison—the deadliest things in the world.

But that stove cost me one hundred francs! protested the lady.

Never mind that; better lose any amount of money than your life. I'll tell you what I'll do: I'll give you twenty-five francs for it, and find some way of getting rid of the pernicious object.

The lady consented, and the doctor removed the stove.

A few days later the patient who thought of changing her residence, went to inspect a little of rooms, and the first thing that met her gaze was the stove.

Who lives here? she asked of the servant who was showing her over the rooms.

Madame A., madame, said the servant respectfully—Doctor B.'s mother-in-law.

Pills for Nervous Troubles.—The stomach is the centre of the nervous system, and when the stomach suspends healthy action the result is manifest in disturbances of the nerves. If allowed to persist, nervous debility, a dangerous ailment, may ensue. The first consideration is to restore the stomach to proper action, and there is no readier remedy for this than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Thousands can attest the virtue of these pills in curing nervous disorders.

Advice to the Minister.

In preaching the minister had been rather long-winded, when the young wife remembered that she had left the dinner in the gas range without regulating the flame. She hastily wrote a note and slipped it to her husband, who was an usher. He thinking it was intended for the minister, calmly walked up and laid it on the pulpit.

The minister paused in the midst of his sermon and took the note with a smile which changed into a terrific frown as he read:

Please hurry home and shut off the gas.

FATHER AWAITS DEAD SONS

Pathetic Sequel to Fatal Accident to Noted French Aviator

Paris, France.—Why did not Charles come back yesterday? demanded querulously Colonel Nieurport, the 32-year-old father of the aviator killed near Etampes, Seine-et-Loire.

His elder brother, M. Edward Nieurport, was killed in the military manoeuvres of 1911.

EXPLORE GREAT NORTH

STEFANSSON WILL AGAIN GO TO ARCTIC CIRCLE

Explorer is Going Under a Commission From the Canadian Government—Will be Well Equipped to Carry on Work, and Will Explore Vast Unknown Areas.

New York.—Vilkkajärvi Stefansson, discoverer of the blonde Eskimoes, made public his plans for the four year-expedition which he plans to lead to the Arctic next May. During this time he hopes to wipe off the map much of the white space indicating the unexplored regions of the far north.

Stefansson and his companions—eight or ten picked men of science—will sail from Esquimaux B.C., the latter part of May or early in June, on the 247 ton steam whaler Karluk barkentine rigged, purchased for the expedition by the Canadian Government.

The Karluk now lies in San Francisco harbor; during the next ten days she will be overhauled and fitted up as a Government vessel.

From Esquimaux the barkentine will carry the party as far north as the ice will permit. If the weather be fine and the winds from the east they expect in September to reach land somewhere in Beaufort Sea, now unexplored. There they will establish a base, sending the vessel back and remain during the winter, but if Western winds prevail and the Beaufort Sea is filled with ice, the expedition probably will land at Herschel Island, remain there a week to establish a primary base, return to Prince Patrick Land and either there or at Herschel Island spend the winter. In the spring they will go north. They will return to civilization in September 1916. Dr. R. M. Anderson, who was with Stefansson on his last trip, will be second in command. The others have not been selected as yet.

A powerful wireless apparatus, designed to carry messages 1,000 miles will keep the explorers in daily touch with the world. This apparatus will be built at Herschel Island or at the unnamed land where they may establish their base on the shores of Beaufort Sea.

For food they will have pemmican and malted milk while sledging over the ice; while they are on land their own rifles must keep the larger hilled Caribou, seal, ptarmigan, musk oxen, foxes and other Polar animals will provide food.

A million square miles of snow and ice north of the North American continent and Siberia will be explored as far as possible. The party is not searching for the pole; if they find it will be by accident. Mr. Stefansson said. What they want to do is to open the locked lands and seas of the north. They do not contemplate going with the ice-drift as Roald Amundsen plans to do, but they will send the Karluk back each autumn to Esquimaux and have her return to the base each spring.

Stefansson will visit the blonde Eskimoes again and bring them back to civilization in moving pictures. To bring them back in flesh, he said, would be murder; they could not survive the germ of civilization.

While in the neighborhood of the stamping ground he expects to explore the interior of Victoria Land, and there expects to define the extent of what he believes to be the largest and one of the richest copper countries under the sun.

Betrayed by Finger Prints

Ottawa.—A striking example of the value of the finger print system to track down criminals was given by the Dominion police. On the twenty-fourth of this month, Inspector Foster who has charge of the finger print work of the Dominion police, received the finger prints of a man arrested in Regina under the names of James Christopher McGregor, charged with entering a house in that city and threatening to kill a woman who was the only occupant of the house at the time.

McGregor's finger prints proved him to be a well known criminal who had committed a number of crimes, and who at the time of his latest enterprise, was a prisoner out on parole from the Manitoba penitentiary, where he had been sent for seven years in 1909.

McGregor had several aliases, and prior to his latest robbery he had escaped from the insane asylum at Selkirk.

SIR IAN HAMILTON TO INSPECT MILITIA

Announcement Received With Great Favor Among Canadian Soldiers

Ottawa.—The announcement by the minister of militia to the Cavalry Association that Sir Ian Hamilton would inspect the Canadian militia this summer caused genuine satisfaction among the cavalrymen. Sir Ian Hamilton, now inspector of the overseas forces, was the commander in South Africa under whom the Canadian cavalry, artillery and mounted infantry served and consequently the men who wear South African medals will be glad that he is to inspect them. Col. Hughes said that Sir Ian Hamilton would probably visit all the camps during the summer training. He also announced that Lord Dundonald would probably visit some of the camps.

Ottoman Mission Failed

Constantinople.—The mission to London of Ibrahim Hakki Pasha on behalf of the Ottoman Government has failed. His object was to persuade the powers to support the claim of Turkey to the retention of Adrianople. He was, however, unable to prevail upon the powers to accept the Porte's note as a basis for fresh peace negotiations, and he had no authority to go beyond the proposals contained in that document. Although members of the Turkish cabinet are in favor of peace, the war element shows no tendency to weaken its attitude. Military operations are still confined to skirmishes at various points along the front. Fighting on any extended scale is improbable for the present owing to the inclemency of the weather.

DOES NOT INTEND TO IMPORT SCHOOL MARMES

Alberta Needs Teachers But no Wholesale Importation Intended, Says Minister

Edmonton.—The question of the importation of American teachers has been a live issue in Alberta for some time and the charge has been made and not specifically denied that the Sifton government plans the wholesale importation of instructors from the other side. The minister of education, however, went the length of saying that no policy for the importation of American teachers had been adopted.

The laws governing the department of education with regard to the qualifications and appointments of the teachers, said the minister, are the same today as they were when Mr. Haultain was in charge of the government of the North-West Territories. It is true that there has been a demand for teachers that was more than equal to the supply. Last year the province was 414 teachers short. It is a little early yet for me to get the figures for this year. The province has advertised its needs in this respect throughout Eastern Canada, and the facts have been placed before the teachers of Great Britain with a view towards improving conditions.

Has the province offered any inducements to teachers to come here from the United States? the minister asked.

The same inducements are offered teachers from that country as from any other. We have our standards of qualifications and training, and these must be complied with. In certain instances where school districts found it impossible to secure certified teachers, temporary permits were granted to applicants who convinced the department that their academic training was adequate.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Secretary of Old People's Home Favors Scheme

Ottawa.—The chief witness before the Old Age Pensions Committee of the House was Mrs. Taft, secretary of the Old People's Home, Winnipeg, and member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Basing her opinions upon her experience in connection with her work, Mrs. Taft said that she strongly favored the establishment of an Old Age Pension system in Canada.

While the institution of which she was secretary was generously aided by the provincial government as well as by private subscriptions, it was inadequate to meet the demands made upon it by the old and needy. Mrs. Taft thought that while the introduction of a pension scheme would not or could not mean that there would be no further need for homes for the aged or poor asylums, it would at least have the effect of obviating the necessity of those with some little means entering such institutions, thus preventing to a great extent the segregation of the old, the desirability of which, she said, was well known to all with experience in the work of charitable institutions.

ANARCHY AT DOORS OF UNITED STATES

London Press Comment on the Unsatisfactory Mexican Situation

London.—An increasing number of Englishmen, especially those whose investments are concerned, watch with growing anxiety the steady spread of anarchy in Mexico and the extension of the area of brigandage brings British lives into danger, also imperilling large British as well as American and Canadian interests. Conviction grows that the United States must fulfill the self-imposed task of protector, but the danger of the situation is not overlooked.

The Daily Mail reflects the spreading uneasiness and recalls Mexico is nearly twice as large as the area of operations in the South African war. It has 15,000 miles of railway, but vast districts are untouched by railways. If a quarter of a million British troops took two years to conquer barely half a million of Boers in South Africa at a cost of $200,000,000, what could be expected from 70,000 American troops pitted against fifteen million Mexicans, and thousands to whom guerilla warfare is second nature. French experience showed Mexico to be a veritable horreum for foreign troops. They continued anarchy at the very doors of the U.S. which is intolerable to the civilized world.

NEW C.P.R. STATIONS

Eighteen New Buildings Promised for Saskatchewan by C.P.R.

Winnipeg.—In addition to its enormous programme for construction of new lines throughout the West during 1913, the C.P.R. has arranged to build about thirty-three new stations which will be required at various points.

It is understood that the majority of these buildings will be erected in Saskatchewan, where eighteen new ones will be constructed before the close of the year. Where these additional buildings are to be placed has not yet been decided, but it is understood that they will be located along those branch lines which were constructed last year, and placed at the points where the greatest number of the most thickly populated. Twelve will be built in Alberta and three in Manitoba.

Rush to Canada Will Break all Records

London.—Steamship authorities say that the Canadian migration season begins three weeks earlier this year than usual. Canada's fame is so well established that every available berth has already been engaged in every outgoing steamer until well in May. The only regret is that the large St. Lawrence ports now opening will not be available until mid-summer. They could easily be filled.

This large overflow of population to Canada is causing increased uneasiness, especially in the rural districts here, where the scarcity of farm labor is greatly harassing agriculturists.

POWERS TO DEMOBILIZE

AUSTRIA AND RUSSIA WILL WITHDRAW TROOPS

An Amnesty Decree on a Large Scale is Being Prepared and Peace is not far off—Cold Weather in Balkans Interferes With Military Operations.

London.—The operations of the five armies engaged in the Balkan war have been brought practically to a standstill by the winter weather, which is accompanied by frequent snow storms and by the bad conditions of the roads.

The daily official despatches upon which the world is now compelled to rely for its news of occurrences in the theatre of war, for the most part repeat the statement that nothing of importance has occurred.

A despatch received from Constantinople, however, goes a little further and says that there has been some fighting on the Thracian lines. Constantinople by Turkish volunteers who, it is claimed, met with some success. These must have been of a minor nature, as the Bulgarians earlier in the week were said to have withdrawn further to the westward. The roads in that vicinity are in such a frightful state that the transport columns found it difficult to keep the troops at the front supplied with provisions and ammunition.

St. Petersburg.—Demobilization of the Austrian and Russian forces has been decided upon, according to information from a most reliable source as a result of a recent exchange of letters between Emperor Francis Joseph and the Russian Emperor. The extra units concentrated on the respective frontiers. It is said, will be simultaneously withdrawn in the near future and the reserves disbanded.

It is understood that the details of this measure were discussed at a special council, which assembled at Tsarok Zelo, under the presidency of Emperor Nicholas. The Premier, and the ministers of Foreign Affairs, War and Marine, and the chief of the general staff were present.

The action coincides with the preparations for the Tercentenary celebration of the Romanov Dynasty which it is desired to mark by peace in international relations and good will in internal politics. An amnesty decree on a large scale is now being prepared.

AMAZING STORY OF TREACHERY

Claimed Russian Officers Sold Plans of Fortresses to Japanese

Paris.—An amazing story is related in a Geneva dispatch to the Excelsior, which has to do with the Russian Baron Ygor Tiliusky, now at Zurich. The baron declares that he holds a claim on the Japanese government for $70,000,000. According to him, three Russian staff officers of revolutionary tendencies sold the plans of the Pacific fortresses, including Port Arthur, to the Japanese. At the outbreak of the Japo-Russian war. For political reasons they desired the defeat of Russia.

They received in payment three cheques amounting to little more than $23,000,000 each, payable at Tokio March 22, 1915. The officers for her contracted to remain in the services of Japan until the cheques were paid. Baron Tiliusky and a partner named Swetky went to Zurich in 1911 and endeavored to raise money on the cheques through a local financier. Negotiations were opened with banks in London, Amsterdam and Dresden, but they refused to make any advances without seeing the original contract.

In the meantime, according to the story, the Japanese embassy learned of the affair and reported it to Tokio. The consul of Zurich was instructed to investigate. The Russian government also took up the matter and sent the Russian military attaché at Bern to Zurich to make inquiries.

New York.—The United States government took official recognition of the claim of Dr. Frederick Friedman of the discovery of a cure for tuberculosis, when by order of the surgeon general a physician of the United States marine hospital service, Dr. Milton H. Foster was sent to meet the young German physician on his arrival here. At the request of the government surgeon, Dr. Friedman consented to turn over a quantity of his bacilli to be tested by the government and to demonstrate the efficacy of his cure before physicians of the hospital service. He agreed to meet a laboratory expert in this city to arrange for the demonstration, which will be tried on tuberculosis patients.

ANTARCTIC CLAIMS TWO MORE VICTIMS

Mawson Party Loses Two of Its Members—Forced to Spend Another Winter

Sydney, N.S.W.—Two members of the Mawson Antarctic expedition, Lieutenant Ninnis, an Englishman, and Dr. Merz, a Swiss, have died. Dr. Mawson and his party of six companions have been left for the winter on Adelie Land, a barren tract in the Antarctic because they were unable to reach the expedition's ship Aurora before she was compelled to leave. The news was received here by wireless from Adelie Land via Macquarie Island. The party left Tasmania in 1911 accompanied by a large body of scientific men, to explore thoroughly the regions around the southern magnetic pole.

Lieutenant B. E. S. Ninnis, of the famous Royal Fusiliers regiment, was a friend of Captain Lawrence Oates, of the Inniskilling Dragoons, who perished while returning from the South Pole with Captain Scott.

Dr. Merz, a prominent scientist and sportsman, was the ski jumping champion of Switzerland in 1908.

Lieutenant Ninnis was the expert of the expedition on surveying and sledging.

The wireless messages hitherto received from the Aurora do not state the cause of his death or that of Dr. Merz.

The expedition started out with the intention of exploring and naming the unknown lands of the Antarctic and making numerous observations around the magnetic pole. According to the wireless reports received from Dr. Mawson, the principal objects of the expedition were attained.

Unfortunately Dr. Mawson and six of his companions, after they had been picked up by the Aurora, undertook another expedition, and were unable to rejoin the ship, which was compelled to leave them to spend another year in the Antarctic. Professor David, who was a member of Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition, received the following wireless dispatch from Adelie Island:

Dr. Douglas Mawson and several of his men missed the Aurora, which had gone to fetch them under the command of Captain J. R. Davis. Lieutenant B. E. S. Ninnis of the City of London Regiment of Royal Fusiliers, and Dr. Merz, who was a champion of Switzerland in 1908 are both dead. All the others are well. Dr. Mawson and six other members of his party probably will winter on Adelie Island.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Son & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, February 25.—Developments the past week in the grain markets have brought out the fact that there is a fairly strong tone underlying the present situation. Trade has not broadened out into anything like marked activity but prices have had a little more range than during the past few weeks and generally opinion is that with the crop scare period approaching there will now be more activity and more interest taken in wheat trading. The United States and Winnipeg markets have advanced 1/4c to 3/4c for the week. The Liverpool market is also slightly higher, but continental markets have been mostly easier. Early in the week the trend of prices was slower on reports of satisfactory conditions, in the winter wheat States on account of recent and continued snow and rainfall. Later revival of export buying both in Winnipeg and United States markets gave markets the upward trend. The reappearance of an export demand especially for the hard varieties of the United States wheats, is perhaps the most important feature of the week. It shows that the European markets are not getting their full requirements from south of the equator and that they may have to again turn to North America to fill out their weekly wants. However, we think that too much stress should not be laid on this feature as it is well-known that a considerable portion of the native wheat of France, Germany and even Russia is lacking in strength this year and they need a certain amount of the North American variety to strengthen their poorer wheat. Whether this demand will continue or not remains to be seen, but it is a hopeful sign and indicates that present values are on a legitimate basis. Foreign crop conditions are mainly favorable. There are some complaints from Russia in regard to insufficient snow covering and damage might result if weather turned cold. There the weather is mild at present. The outlook in India shows marked improvement as a result of the recent rainfall. The Punjab has again had a heavy fall and some authorities report that rainfall is excessive. Statistics were not so bearing. The shipments were smaller than for several weeks past and the American visible supply showed a fair sized decrease as well as the World's visible. The World's shipments of wheat for the week were 12,432,000 bushels against 12,944,000 bushels last week and 8,624,000 bushels last year. Out of this the Argentine shipped 5,096,000 bushels, Australia 1,536,000 bushels and Russia 576,000 bushels.

The United States visible supply decreased 334,000 bushels compared with an increase last year of 863,000 bushels. The Canadian visible shows an increase of 202,241 bushels, making the total now 24,390,941 bushels compared to 24,188,517 bushels last week and 24,009,277 bushels last year. The World's visible, according to Bradstreet, decreased 1,582,000 bushels. A year ago the decrease was 744,000 bushels. Primary receipts in the United States continue large and the total receipts at the four principal spring wheat points from the beginning of the crop year August 1st, 1912, to date are as follows: Minneapolis 92,671,090 bushels; Duluth 73,250,517 bushels; Chicago 31,189,000 bushels; Milwaukee 78,390,000 bushels, making a total of 204,780,607 bushels against 123,548,393 bushels last year and making a total of 115,999,897 bushels two years ago.

The Winnipeg market has advanced and at times has shown considerable independent strength although for the most part trading has been extremely dull. The Northwest Grain Dealers Association issued a report on the crop movement to date which was construed as bullish. It estimated the total crop of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta as 150,000,000 bushels against a former estimate of 130,000,000 bushels. Wheat inspected to date amounts to 98,280,000 bushels, wheat in transit not inspected 1,300,000 bushels, wheat in store country points 19,500,000 bushels; wheat required for seed, feed and country mills 35,000,000 bushels; wheat in farmers' hands to market 26,500,000 bushels. Total crop 180,580,000 bushels. The report also states that there is very little threatening to be done except in Southern Manitoba and that about 40 per cent of fall ploughing has been done. All grades of cash wheat have advanced from 1c to 1 1/4c, part of this of course is due to advance in futures and part to the fact that exporters are looking forward to an early opening of navigation. At the same time offerings are light, although the movement is fairly liberal for the time of year. Today's cash prices are: 1 Northern 85 1/2c; 2 Nor., 82 1/2c; 3 Nor., 79 1/2c; No. 4 wheat, 75c; No. 5, 69 1/2c; No. 6, 64c; feed 54 1/2c; No. 1 Alberta Red Winter 56 1/2c; No. 2 A.R.W., 84c; 3 A.R.W., 80 1/2c. Futures closed: Mar., 88 1/2c; July 89 1/2c.

Practically unchanged but demand is easier, especially for tough grades. Today's closing prices are: 2 C.W., 33 1/2c; 3 C.W., 30 1/2c; extra 1 feed, 32c; 1 feed, 31c; 2 feed, 28c. Futures closed May 36c; July 36 1/2c.

The demand for barley is easier and prices are slightly lower. Today: No. 3 C.W. closed at 47 1/2c; No. 4, 45 1/2c. Rejected, 40c; feed, 39c.

Receipts of flax continue to run much heavier than last year and prices have turned lower again. Today's values are 1 N.W.C., 11 1/2c; 2 C.W., 10 1/2c; 3 C.W., 9 1/2c. Futures closed May, 114 1/2c; July, 115 1/2c.

All prices quoted above are for In-store Fort William, Port Arthur or Duluth.

Duchess Back at Ottawa

Ottawa.—Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia have arrived home from Montreal after an absence of several weeks, owing to the illness of the Duchess.

Premier Borden, Hon. Martin Burrell, and other state representatives were present to welcome the royal party home.

Glasgow.—A middle-aged woman named Mary Ferris was found dead in her house at Glasgow. She was badly bruised on the head and limbs and the doctor's report states that she was kicked to death.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON 5.—FIRST QUARTER, FOR MARCH 9, 1913

Text of the Lesson, Gen. xix, 12-17, 23-29—Memory Verses, 15, 16—Golden Text, II Cor. vi, 17—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It does seem too bad to hurry over these lessons after the fashion of the suggestion of those who have assigned them, but the faithful teacher will take up the intervening portions and endeavor to omit nothing. Every part of the record of the visit of the Lord and the angels to Abraham in chapter xviii is most fascinating and most instructive and practical.

See the Lord of glory in human form as doubtless He also appeared to Adam and Eve in Eden. See Him and His two companions, the two angels, also in the form of men, accepting Abraham's hospitality and actually eating the food prepared by Abraham and Sarah. Consider that He also ate in His immortal resurrection body.

Think of the breakfast He prepared for his disciples on the shore of Galilee and also of eating and drinking with Him at His table in His kingdom.

Do not omit to notice the water for their feet. Consider His reference to the omission of this by Simon (Luke vi, 44) and see Him attending to Himself in John xiii. Contrast Sarah's three measures of meal unleavened (xviii, 26) with the woman's three measures of meal leavened of Matt. viii, 33. See the great saying of xviii, 14: Is anything too hard for the Lord? And compare Jer. xxiii, 17-27.

In xviii, 22, see the Lord and Abraham alone together, while the two angels go on their way to Sodom to rescue Lot. Hear Abraham pleading for Sodom and the Lord's assurance that if there were but ten righteous men in the city He would not destroy it. Contrast the greater sin of Israel when the presence of such men as Noah, Daniel and Job could not prevent the judgment from falling upon her and the intercession of Moses or Samuel would not avail (Ezek. xiv, 14-20; Jer. xv, 2) more tolerable for Sodom than for Capernaum in the day of judgment (Matt. xi, 23, 24).

We have seen Lot plucking his tent toward Sodom and later dwelling in Sodom (xiii, 12; xiv, 12) but now we see him a ruler in Sodom, sitting in the gate of Sodom (xix, 1). That means getting on in the world, but it means such a fellowship with the world as angels cannot approve, for they preferred to abide in the street rather than enter Lot's house.

When they communicated to Lot their business, that they had been sent to destroy the city because of its iniquity, which cried greatly to God, they told Lot to tell his family and relatives to flee from the city because of the judgment that was about to come. They paid no heed to Lot's message, however, and he seemed to them as one that mocked.

So much for the value of a testimony against the world by one who is conformed to the world. The life and conduct of Lot is such a problem that if the spirit by Peter had not told us that he was a righteous man (II Pet. ii, 7, 8) we might never have supposed that he was such a one. Such a testimony concerning such a man should prevent us from passing judgment on any one as to whether they are the Lord's or not. See Rom. xiv, 13; I Cor. 4, 5.

In the morning the two angels took Lot and his wife and their two daughters by the hand and brought them forth without the city, urging them to escape for their lives and look not behind them lest they should be consumed in the destruction of the city.

The perverseness and unbelief of Lot are seen in his refusal to escape to the mountain and in his fear that He who had delivered him from Sodom would let some evil befall him in the mountain. See the marvelous grace of God in sparing Zoar at his request. How wonderful beyond all comprehension the sin of man and the grace of God! There is, however, a limit to His forbearance if sin is persisted in, for though He is long suffering and not willing that any should perish, the day of the Lord will come (II Pet. iii, 9, 10).

From ch. xix, 15-23, it looks as if the day on which Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed began with a clear sky, a morning of sunshine after a night of the usual sins to which the cities were given over. If the sunshineth-law of Lot happened to mention to any of their friends the visit of their father and his strange message concerning the approaching doom it probably caused only laughter. But the clouds gathered, the storm broke, the fire and brimstone fell, and that was the last morning on earth for the inhabitants of these cities.

The Lord Jesus Christ who sent the Angels in the days of Noah and the fire that destroyed those cities, has said: As it was in the days of Lot, even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed. (Luke xiii, 26; xxviii, 30; II Thess. i, 7-9). He also said: Remember Lot's wife (Luke xviii, 32). And when the day these Old Testament records are recalled, as they so often are, it is the Lord Jesus who is thus held up for scorn and contempt and through Him God the Father, for all of His words and works were the Father's through Him (John vi, 49; xiv, 10).

Hudson Bay Terminus

Ottawa.—Fort Nelson will be the Government's choice for the Hudson Bay Railway terminus, unless upon completion of the surveys and inspection it might be thought advisable to decide otherwise.

This was Hon. Frank Cochrane's answer to Hon. George Graham's question in the House. To Port Nelson from Le Pas is 420 miles, while to Fort Churchill it is 506 miles approximately.

Expenditures on the line since last season are as follows: Surveys, $156,437; construction, $254,830; Le Pas bridge $108,000; rails and other supplies $195,343.

London.—John Benson, a Crimean veteran, died at Brighton, following a fall in which he fractured his collarbone.

STRIKING ARGUMENT AGAINST OCEAN TRANSIT OF LIVE CATTLE

This picture was taken at Malta on the arrival of the cattle boat Avonville, bound for Tripoli, from Naples with a cargo of live animals. The ship put into Malta in distress, having encountered terrible weather on its voyage. Over 200 head of cattle perished. Similar scenes to that depicted are enacted in the Atlantic whenever a cattle boat meets with bad weather while bringing livestock to England. They form a powerful argument against the live cattle trade, which entails a lot of needless torture for the unfortunate beasts. Suffering from seasickness as they do, even a relatively calm passage means misery for them. In really bad weather a cattle boat becomes an inferno, the poor dumb animals rolling about and getting torn and lacerated. Happy indeed if they are thrown overboard and a speedy end made of their agony. England imports annually live animals for food to the value of nearly $20,000,000
